

World Wide Web Site

The complete Fujitsu Microelectronics World Wide Web site is also included on this CD-ROM . With your Netscape browser, you can view the site directly from the CD-ROM without an active Internet connection—saving you download time and connection fees.

If you do not already have a Netscape browser, you will first need to download a copy from the Internet. If you have Internet access, simply FTP to "ftp.netscape.com". Select the directory which reflects your platform and read the "README" file for further installation instructions. If you have Web access, you can reach the Netscape home page from this URL: "http://home.netscape.com". Once there, click on the "DOWNLOAD" button for the latest installation instructions for your particular platform.

After you have installed a copy of the Netscape browser, you will be able to access the Fujitsu Microelectronics Web site off-line. Use your Netscape browser to open the file called "INDEX1.HTM" which is located in the "WWWSITE" directory on the CD-ROM.
